Hughes & Dier Reports on
State of Wilson Account
Regular and Correct.

Charles A. Stoneham, owner of the Giants, admitted yesterday that he still is interested somewhat in securities once held for customers of his brokerage, which he sold to Hughes & Dier.

This admission was made at the close of the adjourned hearing before Magistrate Simpson in Jefferson Market Court of the complaint of F. R. Wilson of McLeanboro, Ill., against Stoneham, growing out of the transactions Wilson had with Charles A. Stoneham & Co.

Stoneham's agent in connection with the securities is John J. Delaney of 41 Broad street. This is the same Delaney who has figured in the bankruptcy proceedings of E. D. Dier & Co. Fred Andrews, one time cashier for Dier, has testified that he sold through Delaney the securities he obtained by making loans to the Dier concern a comparatively short time before the Dier failure.

Seek Link With Dier Holdings.

At that time Andrews had left the Dier firm and was in business for himself. The attorneys for the trustee in bankruptcy have been much interested in the connection established between Dier and Delaney through Andrews.

In the proceedings in the police court, where Mr. Stoneham sat the greater part of the time in what appeared to be anything but a happy frame of mind, Wilson is asserting that Stoneham failed to give him a proper accounting regarding the purchase of 800 shares of Studebaker stock, and thus violated Section 927 of the Penal Code. The defense has been that Stoneham went out of business and turned the stock in question over to Hughes & Dier just a year ago.

Stoneham, on the stand, was asked by Daniel Blumenthal, counsel for Wilson, the date he closed out the brokerage business. He replied "June 18, 1921."

"Well, if that is so, why did you write in October to Samuel Munch of Hartford, Conn., asking for additional margin of $112,000?"

There followed an argument, Stoneham contending he had not asked for margin, but requested the customer to take up his securities and pay his debt balance.

"That just shows we were doing our best to get out of business," he said.

"Well, what became of the securities?" "We still have them. We have to carry them and the securities of other customers until the market turned. If we had sold them Munch would have owed us $28,000."

"When you say you still have them, who do you mean?"

"They were turned over to J. J. Delaney of 41 Broad street, who acted as our agent to wind up the affairs of the concern."

"Then Mr. Delaney has them?"

"Yes."

"Is Mr. Delaney a member of any exchange?"

This was objected to, but Stoneham admitted that Delaney had been a clerk in the employ of his brokerage. He refused, under the guidance of Leo Bondy, his counsel, to answer other questions regarding customers' securities turned over to Dier. Mr. Bondy's frequent objections being sustained by the Magistrate.

Wilson's Stock All Sold.

Previously the complainant Wilson had made a rather poor showing, as he admitted that Hughes & Dier carried 1 1/2 million accounts regularly and that these showed where the 800 shares of Studebaker were.

It appeared, too, that Wilson bought an additional 800 shares and finally sold the lot, all through the Dier concern and without making any demand for an accounting from Stoneham until long after the Dier failure. He had sold the stock, through Dier, too, and had received checks for $5,000 and $20,000.

Wilson said he had written the Chicago manager for Stoneham, objecting to the transfer of his stock to Hughes & Dier because he knew nothing of the latter firm. This led Magistrate Simpson to ask:

"When with about $50,000 involved you didn't take any other action than to write to the Chicago manager?"

"I can't recall all the incidents of the transaction," replied the witness.

The Magistrate told the lawyers a week to submit briefs.

S. S. RUSKAY & CO. BOOKS
WITHHELD FROM BANTON

District Attorney to Appeal to
United States Supreme Court.

A motion to restrain the District Attorney from inspecting the books of the bankrupt brokerage of S. S. Ruskay & Co., has been granted by Judge John C. Knox in the United States District Court. It was learned yesterday that Mr. Banton said he would appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

William M. Parkin, special master appointed by the court, reported last month that the firm apparently had asserted its constitutional rights before the receiver actually had possession of the books, they should be withheld from the District Attorney.

John C. Myers, Assistant District Attorney, contends that the concern should have stipulated at the time the receiver was appointed that the books should be turned over to the prosecuting officer.

This case differed from that of E. D. Dier & Co. in which the United States Supreme Court ruled in favor of Mr. Banton. Counsel for Dier never asserted the firm's constitutional rights. Ruskay & Co. were members of the Consolidated Stock Exchange.

Further evidence in the Dier case did not go to the Grand Jury, as had been expected. Benjamin F. Schreiber, Assistant District Attorney in charge, said it was necessary to give more time to the sifting of complaints and the collection and collation of evidence. He

SALES FOR CONGO BOAT RIVER CARPETED WITH GOLD

Katonah, N. Y., Chemist Departs With Seven Commodities to Spot Where He Scooped Nuggets by Handful During the War.

When the White Star liner Majestic sailed Saturday she carried with her an expedition, composed of eight men from Katonah, N. Y., which hopes to penetrate 600 miles into the Belgian Congo in search of a gold field which they believe will prove as rich as the Klondike. The expedition expects search of at least six months. All the while that the organization work was going on the facts relating to it were kept secret.

It all came about this way: Julius J. Dolgos, a chemist, of Goldens Bridge, near Katonah, was in the mounted forces operating in the Belgian Congo during the war. Back in 1917, while with a column of cavalry, he lost his way, toppled off a cliff, but suffered only slight injuries to himself and horse. Continuing he came to a brook at which he stopped to refresh himself. It was what Dolgos saw while drinking the water as he lay on his stomach that caused the expedition into the wilds.

The bottom of the brook seemed to consist most of the day consulting with Joseph McLaughlin, auditor examining the 750 books of the defunct firm under the direction of the District Attorney. Milton Helm of 464 Riverside Drive, former head of Milton Helm & Co., stock brokerage house at 74 Broadway, was assigned before Magistrate Sweetser in Tombs Court. He will be examined Friday.

Helm, who had branch offices in several Eastern cities, was forced into bankruptcy last September. He disappeared for several months and was found in an office at Fifty-seventh street and Broadway. He had undertaken to organize a cooperative scheme for the sale of automobile accessories, said the police.

Howell & Wales, 30 Broad street, stock brokers, filed schedules in bankruptcy in the United States District Court, showing liabilities of $486,476 and assets of $382,754. The firm has branch offices in Newark, Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago and Cleveland. An involuntary petition was filed May 23.

Spurious Hirshfield Worries the Genuine
Commissioner Warns Public Against His Counterfeit.

While it may seem impossible that a city like New York should have such unbounded good luck, it appears probable that there are two David Hirshfields at large, one being the Commissioner of Accounts and the other pretending to be. At least, that is the burden of the complaint yesterday of the real and only David, the short, stout little man who knows all about birth control, United States history, how to eat and the Hylian administration.

According to David the Genuine some lawyer, who may be termed David the Spurious, has been masquerading, flitting with the ladies, pretending to know all about things that David the Genuine knows about and otherwise storing up trouble for the Commissioner of Accounts.

"I want to state right now," said the little man in the Municipal Building yesterday, "that this impersonating lawyer has caused me a great deal of annoyance. Many people have called here insisting they knew me as a personal friend, but upon seeing me have failed to recognize me."

The excuse for the issuance of the warning to the public was found in the complaint of a law office stenographer, who said she had been charged too much by a commissioner of deeds for taking an acknowledgment of a document. Charging seventy-five cents for a twelve cent job, this commissioner of deeds is alleged to have said:

"Well, if you're good looking I'll have to charge you a dollar."

Hirshfield thinks the profiteer may have been the impersonator.

MOTHER TRIES TO KILL
GIRLS WITH HAMMER

Then Stabs Daughters and Herself—All Will Recover.

Mrs. Rosina Edson, 42, tried to kill her two children, Katherine, 13, and Margaret, 8, early yesterday while they lay asleep in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boardman Wright, 28 St. Luke's place, Montclair, N. J. She then tried to kill herself, but was unsuccessful. All three are suffering from serious wounds, but will recover.

Mrs. Edson and her husband, Hubert Edson, manager of the West India Sugar Finance Corporation of this city, have been living apart. Mrs. Wright at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning was awakened by the screams of Mrs. Edson's children. She ran into the room and saw Mrs. Edson pounding her head with a hammer handle, the head of which had just floated out of the window. Wright could stop her. Edson seized a dull paring knife and stabbed herself and her daughters with it.

WAITER AT MOUQUIN'S
FINED IN WINE SALE

Central Brewing Co. Enters
Plea of Not Guilty.

The Central Brewing Company of New York entered a tentative plea of not guilty yesterday in the United States District Court to the indictment against the manufacture of more than 5,000 barrels of beer with over 4 per cent, alcoholic content. It is alleged this beer was sold in unlabeled bottles for five times the price charged for near beer.

Victor Viole, a waiter, at Mouquin's, 554 Sixth avenue, pleaded guilty to selling a prohibition agent two bottles of wine and a pint of whiskey. Viole said the liquor was his own property. He was fined $100.

The seven men arrested Saturday while attempting to smuggle into the draw 500 cases of whiskey from the Vandam Warehouse, 40 Vesey street, on fraudulent receipts and customs permits, were arraigned before Commissioner Hitchcock and released under bond pending a hearing on June 26.

The home in Ozone Park of Antonio Cascese was surrounded following the rumor that he might return. He did not. Cascese, alleged head of a big smuggling ring, disappeared, defaulting a $5,000 bond.

SIX CANADIAN SCHOOLS
URGED TO CONSOLIDATE

Consolidation of six universities in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick into one university at Halifax is recommended by the Carnegie Foundation in a survey by Dr. William S. Leonard of the foundation staff, and Dr. Kenneth C. M. Sills, president of Bowdoin College.

The interests and finances of the universities would be pooled. The foundation proposes that $4,500,000 be raised to carry out the scheme.

The colleges affected are King's College, Windsor, N. S.; Dalhousie University, Halifax; Acadia University, Wolfville, N. S.; Mount Allison University at Sackville, N. B.; St. Francis Xavier's University at Antigonish, N. S., and the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, N. B.

RYE VOTES ON BONDS TO-DAY.

Voters of Rye will decide today on a proposed issue of $1,000,000 of public improvement bonds. The largest issue proposed is for $738,000 for the construction of a disposal plant near Milton, where many residents are opposed to the plan. A spirited contest is expected between four candidates for town membership on the village board. Reginald W. Pressman, an investment broker, 140 Wall street, and Walter H. Powers, a Manhattan electrical engineer, who were nominated in the village caucus, are being opposed by Brooks Purdy and Edwin C. Thomas, designers of the Citizens' Protection party.

Navy Yard Worker Loses Life

Five persons, four of them young children, were killed yesterday in street accidents in this city and suburbs.

More than 1,000 persons gathered last night in Henry street and threatened to lynch Reuben Katz of 84 Essex street after the heavily laden grocery truck he was driving killed Minnie Rosenberg, 4, of 188 Henry street. She was walking across the street with her mother and brother, Jacob, 7. Jacob had hold of her hand. He stopped to pick up a penny.

As soon as the boy released her hand the girl tumbled under the truck and was run over. The mother and other persons screamed and soon a crowd blocked the street, menacing the driver. Patrolman Fred Russell took the child to a drug store and then rescued Katz from the crowd. The crowd stormed the drug store, and other policemen were called on.

The girl was dead before an ambulance from Gouverneur Hospital arrived. Katz was held on a charge of homicide. He and the two helpers said the child ran into the side of the truck and they did not see her.

Woman Loses Car's Control.

Loosing control of her automobile, Miss Margaret Muldoon, 18, of 68 Chestnut street, Jersey City, drove on the sidewalk in Union street, Union Hill, N. J., crashed into the window of a department store and knocked down four women shoppers.

All received lacerations which were dressed by an ambulance surgeon and Miss Muldoon was arrested on a charge of reckless driving. She had tried to avoid a heavy truck and lost control of the steering gear.

Those receiving cuts from glass and lacerations were: Mrs. Anna Mae Ferguson, 111 Eighteenth street, West New York; Mrs. Mabel, name address; Miss Bella King, 618 Park street, Hoboken; Mrs. Rose Elmerick, 513 Walnut street, West Hoboken.

Magistrate in Traffic Court sentenced Muldoon to sixty days in the workhouse. He was charged with operating an automobile while intoxicated. Magistrate House said:

"We have had more cases of reckless driving since prohibition than ever before."

CANADIAN ASTRONOMER
FEARS TO TALK OF MARS

Dr. Klotz Wary After Failure of Humorous Sally.

Dr. Otto Klotz, director of the Dominion Observatory at Ottawa, returned yesterday by the White Star liner Adriatic from attending scientific meetings in Europe, including the annual Astronomical Union at Rome. Naturally the chief question put to him was about the comparative nearness of Mars to the earth.

Dr. Klotz greeted his inquirers with a look of mock alarm and said:

"Mars is a sore subject with me. You see I expect to have signed opinions about there and how they sold brands of wine and beer manufactured overnight in Martian department stores."

Some of the newspapers took me seriously and others did not, but all lit into me ironically, sarcastically and otherwise, keeping it up about a year. Therefore, I trust you will excuse me if I decline to talk about those people cut there on the planet whom I really do not know anything about."

KATLIN GETS SUMMONS
FOR HIS POLICE CAPTOR

Senator Paroled on Charge of Attacking Traffic Man.

State Senator Abraham L. Katlin of Brooklyn, who was arrested Sunday night at Coney Island after he had pushed Charles Koberg, a traffic policeman, from the running board of his automobile, was arraigned before Magistrate Reynolds in Coney Island Court yesterday on a charge of felonious assault. The case was adjourned until Friday and the Senator was paroled.

Sensor Katlin, his wife, Anna, and a party of friends were seated in the Katlin automobile as it moved in front of the Henderson Theater, in Surf avenue, when Policeman Kerrigan directed them to "move on." The Senator resented the order and the arrest followed.

Sensor Katlin is a Republican and represents the Fourth district, which is in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn.
